

Three weeks before the start of the holidays, here are four suggestions from Karyne Duplessis Piché to stock up on good bottles.

Good bubbles, good price

If you think sulfites in wine cause headaches, try this sparkling wine from Penedès. The Pinol family adds a minimal dose to stabilize their sparkling wine. That's all! They also age their wine on lees for over 30 months to add texture and depth. The result: this cava smells of peach pits and pear, with a saline finish that evokes the terroir where the vines grow. A great choice for an aperitif!
